

This transcript was exported on Dec 12, 2022 - view latest version here.

Speaker 1:

After the 50-H and the notice of claim are done, you can file suit. You cannot file suit against the police department or the city of New York or any of its agencies until first you file a notice of claim and then you appear for your 50-H examination.

Once those two things are done, you can file a lawsuit if you're not able to resolve the claim without a lawsuit. The time period in which you can file a lawsuit, the time period in which it's required to file a lawsuit, against the city of New York or any of its agencies under New York law is a year and 90 days.